ON PAPER

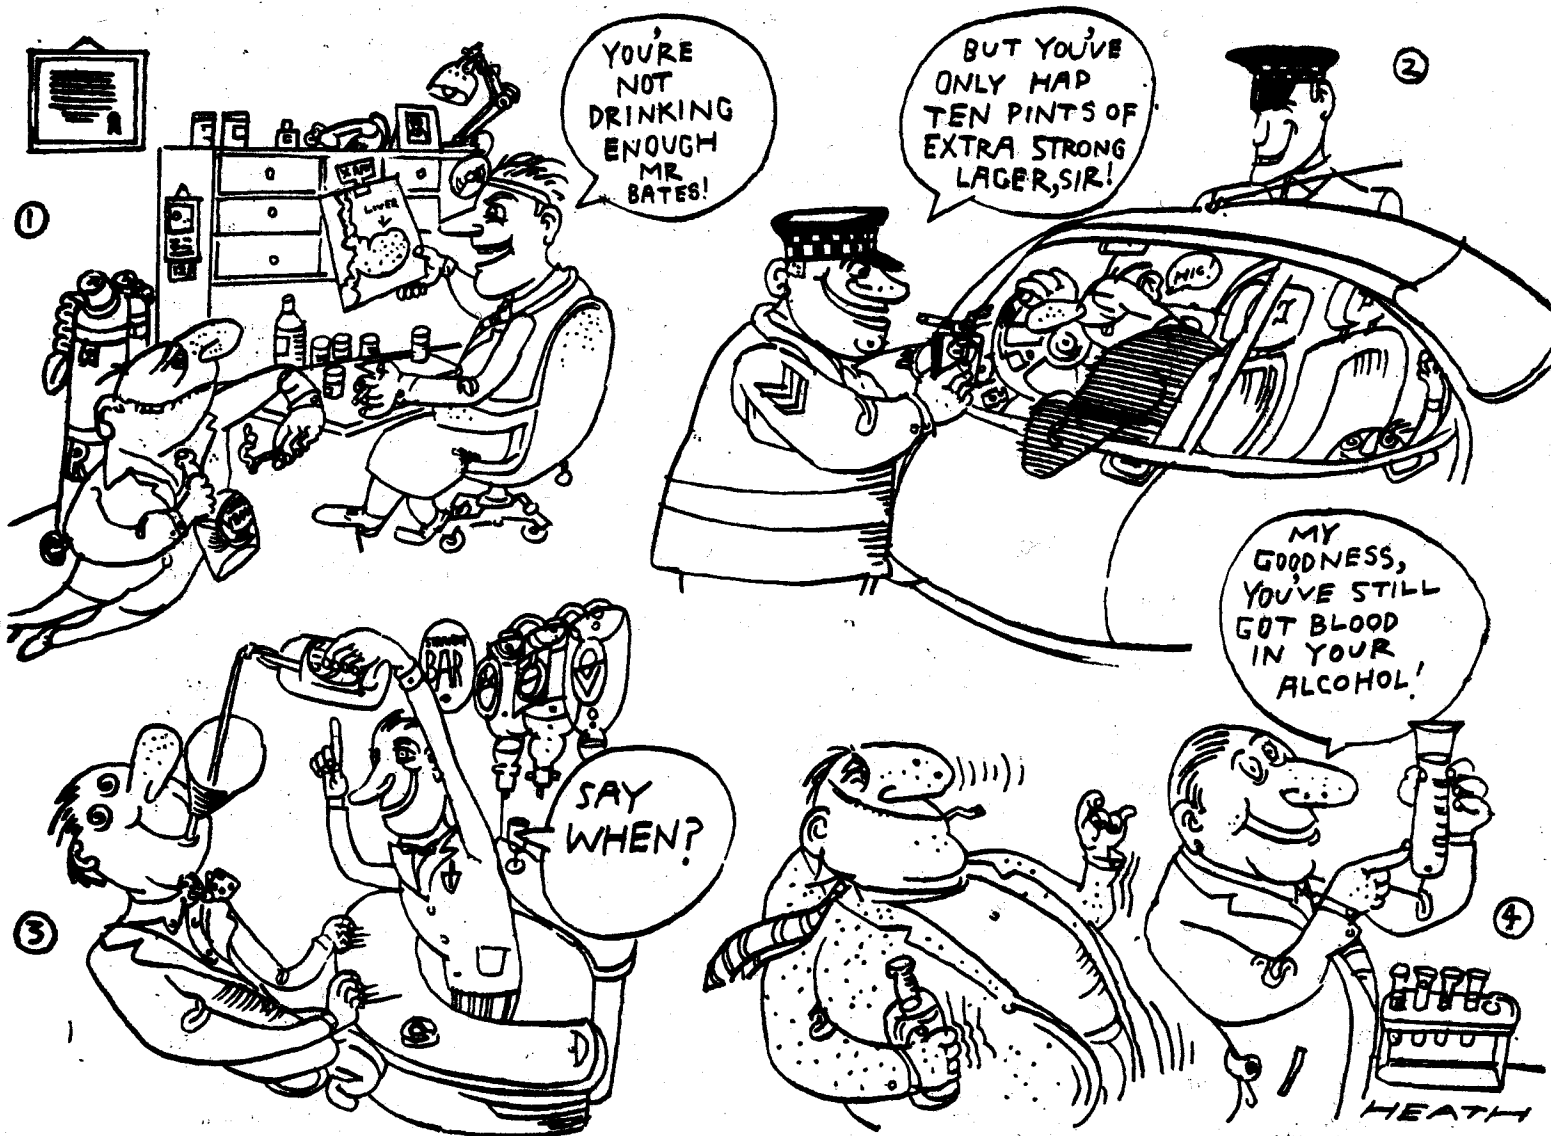

The Organ of the London Hash

What?

Safe drinking limits increased?

S & M sex to be legalized?

It must be Christmas!

You are now allowed to drink more

Sado-masochistic sex 'should be legal'

LONDON HASH NEWS

Pressing On Once More

Yes, a warm welcome back to On Paper, the organ which has lost fewer libel cases than Private Eye - but not for want of trying. If the format looks rather familiar, it's because I found some dusty cobweb-covered files on my PC and realised I could recycle them in true eco-publishing style.

No Comment, No On Paper

In line with the current trend for outsourcing, On Paper will be putting the run write-ups out to tender. In the pub after the run a comment sheet will be circulated and you will be cajoled into scribbling down a mindless soundbite.

If you are more of a graphic artist than the usual piss artist, have a go at drawing a cartoon for the mag.

R.U. a Complete Member?

If your annual subscription is overdue (many expired at the AGM in October), please cough up the paltry sum to Limpet or whoever is Hash Cash on the day. Recent survey results leaked to On Paper by Menstrual (of the Consumers Association) show that your money is much safer in our hands than in your bank account.

Cockneys Meet Oostenders

The next London Hash excursion (in conjunction with the Full Mooners) is to check out whether those Belgian beers/chips/chocolates/waffles are as good as everyone says they are. February 3rd/4th is the date. We will travel by train from Victoria. More information elsewhere in this issue, or see Wee Bev for the low-down.

Desperately Seeking Rover?

Lofty (aka Graenia) is looking for a soulmate preferably female (or canine? Ed.) to share a twin-bedded room in the Kanika Beach Hotel, at the Cyprus Interhash, and subsequently on the cruise to Egypt. (Tel 0181 440 8065 outside of massage parlour opening hours).

Expresso Copy

If you can help with the photocopying of this organ, please speak up, particularly if you have access to a copier which gives good results from photographs. Ideally they should come out not too grainy with good contrast, unlike Prince on a Sunday morning for example.

On Less Paper

When you've finished with this mag, (unless you're going to hoard it hoping its value will appreciate in time) please pass it on to someone who missed out first time around, perhaps a visitor, or return it to me.

Worm Holes Up in Singapore

Worm and Birdtable are residing at #04-14 Far East Mansions, 10 Kim Yam Rd, Singapore 0923. No danger of them blighting your Xmas party but look out for a visit around Interhash time. If you write - ask how he got on trying to get a bed at the Raffles Hotel after night on the piss!

Errata

Any reference to Christmas in this magazine is of course a total aberration. The editor would like to apologize for any distress caused.

Checkpoints

- ① Help keep the subscription costs down. When having a run, check out the possibility of free beer for the down-downs with the landlord. Equally important, make sure there will be enough staff on duty when the run finishes.
- ② When setting a trail, write both the pub name AND the street name at the station entrance to assist drivers.

Thank You

Contributions this month (in order of knee-knobbliness) from:

Unacceptable, Rambo, Smashem, Bostick, Thunderthighs.

Also anyone I missed out. If any photos in this issue are yours, please remind me to return the originals. If there are no photos in this issue, it was due to technical difficulties! [Hedgehog]

LH3 Run - Abbey Wood

4th November 1995

Hares : Rainbow and daughter Co Co. (Colette)

If you showed up at Abbey Wood, skip the next paragraph.

Why didn't you do this run ? Was it because the run list (inaccurately as it turned out) proclaimed that Horse and Beggars were the hares? Was it because the tube only goes as far as Brixton? Or was it simply that you abhor chasing sunbeams in a good old English autumnal forest on a glorious cloudless morning, accompanied by panoramic views over the city and a well tended ruin of an abbey founded by the slayer of Thomas A'Beckett? Perhaps you were put off by the effort of the 25 metre hike from station to pub? Whatever your reason, I hope it was worth it.

Those who did show up found the biggest struggle was tackling the mountain of sandwiches in the pub. The catering was for fifty, whereas fifteen might have been more appropriate. The only thing bigger than the sandwich mountain was the beer garden which deserves our presence in the summer sometime.

Down-downs went to Rainbow and Coco (hares), Tinkerbell (reluctant returnee), Prince (for getting lost in the woods, or was it for getting out of the pub?), Wee Bev (for calling a false false trail), and Rambo for catching a train to somewhere completely different.

Post-run Comments

Without names, to protect the guilty, and interpreting loosely where I can't decipher the writing, here's what the pack thought...

Not a bad pub if I wasn't driving. Brilliant run, good job it wasn't the original hares.

Where were the 'dream team' hares? Woods, ruins (Prince?), food, sun, trail. 3.5/10 - you're getting better you two!

Sun, bush and bristles. [I assume she means brambles, not Prince's stubble - Ed.]

LH3 Run - Blackheath

18th November 1995

Hare : White Trash

Post-run Comments

A good spanking run. (Hedgehog)

Sun, sights and waiting for sex - damn good! (Rainman)

Too sunny and revisionist. (The Marxist)

A work of art. (Gigo)

Almost bald. (An anonymous reference to the hare/length.)

Why not through the ponds? (Crystal Balls)

Another fine, sunny hash and it could be a fine afternoon watching England lose. (Kaffir)

Good run for the late arrivals. (Ryde, grateful that the pack, one mile into the trail, were still in sight from the pub.)

I thought that the Hash was very polite when many of them did not 'take a fence'. (Anonymous - deservedly so)

Sen chock qutoosn. Bayin yok run chockee! (Whose idea was it to get comments from the pack?)

Thoroughly enjoyable run!

Too many squirrels. (Queen Viper)

Hair of the dog ! (Hash Harlot)

LH3 Run - Tufnell Park

26th November 1995

Hare : Nick the Greek

Notable primarily for glugg stop in the Hare's garden. (What more can you expect from Tufnell Park?)

Members-only invitation

A Dutch Euro MP, Nel van Dijk, a Green Party member, thinks that more should be done to prevent Aids than just delivering harsh warnings about safe sex. Therefore Nel decided to put out a press statement with a condom attached.

One of Nel's assistants, while handing out these little pre-Christmas presents, said to one journalist of Chad's acquaintance, "Nel is providing a condom for every member."

Nel has placed a demonstration on the Internet showing how to put on a condom. For those of you lucky souls not yet on the World-Wide Web, Nel's doughty assistant said, "Don't worry, I've managed to put one on a floppy if you're interested."

The mind boggles.

ON the Record

LH3 Run - Loughton

3rd December 1995

Hares : Smartarse, Jasper and Crystal Balls

Continuing the LH3's recent sequence of scenic off-road runs this was a joint run with FUKFMH3 almost wholly in the mist-laden Epping Forest.

Post-run Comments

I think it was brilliant!! (Jasper - hardly an impartial opinion from one of the Hares.)

F.U.K.in' great. (Smartarse - another glowing tribute from a biased observer.)

Good lie-in till 11am. (Garbage - who is becoming rather lethargic these days. Still he is a veteran.)

Good to be back running on a good starter.

(Condom - I plead illegible writing - Ed.)

Enjoyed the Middlesex loop. (Please Sir)

Ohleckohleckohleck! (Bernhard - give him some English lessons someone.)

Where's the hare(s) - not enough shiggy. (Mr P)

Great hangover cure and beautiful scenery. (Queen Viper)

Breathtaking ! 1st time. (Geoff)

Finished the way I started - in the rain!

It was great. (Dicky Di Do)

Great run but why does it always rain in Loughton? (Ryde)

I would have liked to spend longer at the beer stop. (Daffy)

Good run! But did we need three hares?

Down Downs

Hares : Smartarse, Jasper

(Crystal Balls had foreseen his down-down and had made good his escape.)

Virgins : Geoff, Nuha

Visitor : Condom (Papua New Guinea)

Sinners :

Bev : miscreant at a party

Daffy - not invited to party

Hary Fairy

Queen Viper - lost hat

Ryde

Dicky Di Do - hasn't she gone yet?

LH3 Run - Harrow-on-the-Hill-on-the-Hill-on-the-Bloody-Hill-Again

17th December 1995

Hare : Wee Bev

Fourth drunk and second farting corpse : Ratshit

Limpet's party the night before laid waste to the weaker-hearted of the membership on a morning which was warm enough to tempt out T-shirts and shorts - well, Hedgehog's T-shirt and shorts, which in fact means it was cold enough to freeze the balls off a titanium monkey. Every inch of Harrow Hill was covered before we headed off to check out the golf course, and the abandoned weed-choked lido in the nearby woods, finally ending up at the Gayton Hall pub.

Post-run Comments

So this is how you do it in London !? Where was the beer stop!?!? (Visitor from Malawi who clearly doesn't understand how quickly muscle tissue freezes solid when you stop running in a Brit winter.)

It was good to see every side of the hill. (Ryde. Shame we missed out the inside - Ed.)

I've found more atmosphere at other pool parties. (Hedgehog)

Why does every Hash, everywhere in the world end up with Rashid waiting at the bar? (Marathon D.C.)
Nice beaver (in the pool). Why is everywhere 'Gay' ton round here?

Good run. (Lofty)

A load of balls - especially hanging from the Hare's ears! (Queen Viper - how QV qualifies to comment I don't know as she and Eagermount only showed up in the pub and left after 5 minutes.)

Down downs

Hares : Wee Bev, Ratshit

Visitors : Al, Kate, Marathon (Malawi), Kit (Bicester)

Sinners : Rambo and Hairy Fairy for planting a bar towel in the RA's bag the night before, denouncing him as a thief and rugby tackling him as he left the pub. (Well he is an Aussie - Ed.)

The Bureau of Food and Drugs in the Philippines has threatened to ban the sale of fruit-flavoured condoms unless the manufacturers can give a satisfactory reason for producing them. "You only add a flavour when it is something to eat," said a Bureau spokesman.

HARRIERS

on on!

I Love to go a Wandering!! (NOT!)

Run 458: Hares Discomfort & Tony; Location - behind Palodia. Attendance - about 50.

Run Notes:

Just for once, words fail me - almost. Of all the trails, in all the world, I had to go on this one! On out had us following miniscule blobs of pale pink flour, spaced approximately 100m apart. To add to the quality of the markings two little shits who eventually had their ears clipped spent a large part of the run trying to hide what trail there was! We almost managed to avoid ploughed fields, in the finest hash tradition, so we only crossed about 48 of them. No wonder the farmers love us so much. Following the trail was further hampered by a hare who did f..k all, in the finest Dhekalia traditions, where doing f..k all obviously applies when you are marking the trail, and a navigationally challenged hare, whose most frequently heard remark was "I don't remember coming down here??" Basically, we crossed two watersheds, did an amazing figure-8 loop, and, with the light dwindling and the trail disappearing - got lost. Your humble correspondent, Wetpatch and Bubble came in in two hours 10 mins. all having suffered severe sense of humour failure. We particularly liked the bit in the river bed with sod-all trail visible to anyone. Almost the only spot of light relief was provided by finding Hashmap and Katy coming round with the walk, and being subsumed into the run. When we got back, one hare was out looking for us, while the other quietly consumed a few cans. The concept of a back marker, or sweeper hare, or even marking the trail or hashing at all is obviously slightly foreign to him. All in all - not a good day. As I write, my PC has steam coming out of the back and I feel my blood pressure rising. If there is one consolation, next weeks can't be any worse (it won't - its Wicked Willy and Man Friday)

Parish Notes:

GM welcomed Bostik and Colgate from West London H3, visiting these fair shores on a freebie from Rank Xerox. We had 2 virgins - Bryan and Katie, and a bunch of Long Lost Hashers - E-Wrek-Shun, Hashmap, Midge & Mary. By this time it was pitch black so we tried to speed everything up a bit. Wancum announced that we had raised approx. £360 for the Lions and we had an extremely nice letter of thanks from them.

E-Wrek-Shun spoke hard and long on the run, including the complete absence of signs (good start), he touched on the significance of the concept of a marked trail, and waxed lyrical on the RV and nature of the terrain. Almost the only good thing about the run was that its over, and he awarded it 2 dead fridges and 1 dead dog!

RA took over, and dobbed the Banglestein on Hashmap, Katie and Captain Sensible, for the usual late and tardy arrival. Pissoles went to Shameless Hussy, No Problem and Blow Dry, and Fred Flintstone - though I can't remember exactly what it was that he did. Supergirl this week was Miss Scarlet, who let Sandy(?) out of a lift, where she had been stuck for DAYS. Yours truly got done for a Bo Derek - actually sliding down several of the banks. Wango joined us for managing to take her first year exams and good luck to her!!

The W_{earisome} E_{xecrable} B_{astards} Page

An occasional page aimed at those sad individuals whose only intercourse with society is via email and surfing the WorldWide Web. Unfortunately an increasing number of hashers are deserting their predominantly ABC1 socio-economic group in favour of the W3 category.

If you think the World Wide Web and the Internet are stitches approved by the International Crochet Board of Control, you deserve a few words of explanation. Using a computer and a phone line, and making a local phone call you can bring up on your screen reams of drivel about other hashes around the world. At its most useful this means that you can check the run lists of hashes you plan to visit, or print a copy of a registration form for a Hash event. At it's least useful (and most tasteless) you can bring up on your screen a photograph of bared buttocks at the 3rd Annual Brown Underpants Run of Yokelsville H3, Tennessee etc.

Where to Find the Hash on the WorldWide Web

<http://www.lm.com/~floppy/hash/onon.html>

What if you only have e-mail access to the Internet? In a future issue of On Paper you can learn how to access WorldWide Web pages using only e-mail.

The following item appeared on the Internet. No one seems to know who "Kevin" is but the references to North London, beer, hashing and Tottenham Hotspur seem to cast suspicion in a particular direction. Does anyone know if "Kevin" is Prince's middle name? ...

All about Kevin!

I'm a Computer Analyst. Aged 28 and a quarter, currently based at BT (British Telecom plc) here in the capital. Been a THFC fan since birth - mainly due to family roots in the Wood Green area of North London. Initially attended WHL with Dad as a kid of about 8. My Dad's side of the family is split fairly evenly between supporting Spurs and the Gooners - I'm obviously on the sensible side. My mum's side of the family are from Stoke on Trent. I think there are teams north of London - but not ones worth mentioning. Anyway their team isn't even in the Premier League so they won't be causing any upsets playing Spurs - unless we meet them in a cup draw.

I rent here in London (home actually based in Milton Keynes and rented out to a couple of mates). I haven't attended as many games as I would like so far this season, although my last game was the Altrincham FA Cup 3rd round match - where I met up with most of the other people listed on the Spurs supporters web page (Jacqui you're doing a great job!) at the famous RT pub. I am a member of the THFC supporters club and aim to be a season ticket holder next season. Been to Wembley last year to see Ft Tel's England team win a few international games. Nice to see us winning at a national level for a change. The European Championship's in 96 being the next real tester.

Other interests involve being a CAMRA member and attending beer festivals. I also belong to a world wide running and social club society called Hash House Harriers (there being at least 4 here in the City) and enjoy attending most sports events and general socialising (pubs & meals out, etc. when funds permit).

Come on you Spurs.

Cheers, Kevin.

ROME HASH HOUSE HARRIERS

IDES OF MARCH & ROME 400TH HASH

FRIDAY 15 TO SUNDAY 17 MARCH 1996

Remember the Chariot racing in the Circus Maximus for the Rome 300th??? (or at least parts of it!!!) We went checking for ancient ruins but mostly ended up feeling like a ruin. Well come and see Caesar cop it in the toga again to celebrate 400 Hashes in Rome.

The Rome 400th appropriately takes place on the anniversary of Caesar getting it in the neck from rival Hashers. We are going to celebrate this form of drastic checking by recreating the event so come along and witness history being remade. You can expect the usual weekend of vast quantities of beer, magnificent food and more beer plus the following runs.

FRIDAY 15 MARCH Registration at the Roo Bar in the Australian Embassy, beer, commemorative T-shirt, a welcome to Rome Hash followed by as much minestrone as you can eat.

SATURDAY 16 MARCH We head out into the country side by bus for the 400th run which will have shiggy, ruins and Spring sunshine followed by Down-Downs for the guilty (there will be short and long runs). A sumptuous Roman banquet will follow plus a disco and more beer.

SUNDAY 17 MARCH We will Hash in Rome providing a unique Hash perspective to the Ancient Monuments of Rome. The Death of Caesar will be recreated in inimitable Hash style.

The cost for the weekend will be Lire 100,000 (which is negligible in all other currencies) before 31 January 1996, after 31 January the price increases to Lire 120,000. This will get you all the beer you can drink, the Friday night run plus supper, sandwiches on Saturday before the main event, the bus, a 3 course dinner plus beer and wine and the Sunday run and a T-Shirt to commemorate the event. Accommodation will be at your expense and Hotels in various price ranges will be booked for Hashers who request it on the rego form. Please complete the attached registration form, either for yourself only, or preferably one registration for all Hashers coming from your Hash and fax with a copy of your funds transfer to 39-6-6896255. You pay the transfer charges which is why it is easier and cheaper to pay in groups.

INTERHASH FLIGHT INFO - CYPRUS AIRWAYS

For clarity I have retyped the original fax [Ed.]

Attn: John Jackson, amathus Hash House Harriers, Limassol.
From: Fanis Sideris, Head of Inclusive Tours, Cyprus Airways Ltd., Nicosia, (FAX 02-465428)
Ref: FO (IT)/426/2/ADV
Date: 8th August 1995

I am giving you, herebelow, an indication of the special fares that Cyprus airways can make available for the participants to the World Interhash '96 which will be held in Cyprus during June 1996. These fares are the best indication at the moment as the Cyprus Airways 1996 pricing has not been finalised as yet.

LONDON/LARNACA/LONDON

June 1996

Monday-Friday	Day flights	GBP 215 Net	(From MANCHESTER or BIRMINGHAM GBP 200)
Monday-Thursday	Night flights	GBP 185 Net	(From MANCHESTER or BIRMINGHAM GBP 185)
Saturday-Sunday	Day flights	GBP 235 Net	(From MANCHESTER or BIRMINGHAM GBP 220)
Friday-Sunday	Day flights	GBP 213 Net	(From MANCHESTER or BIRMINGHAM GBP 205)

Please note that all the above airfares are subject to any IATA or other commercial increases at the time of travel.

Please also note that the above fares are applicable for travel on Cypruys Airways flights only and do not include the airport/security taxes which must be paid additionally at the time of issuance of the tickets.

We thank you for flying Cyprus Airways and we wish you every success with these events.

Kind regards,

Fanis Sideris, Cyprus Airways Ltd

The UK office of Cyprus Airways Ltd is at Euston Centre, 29-31 Hampstead Road, London, NW1 3JA.

INTERHASH HOTEL INFO - KANIKA BEACH HOTEL

[Information received from IBM (Martin Evans) in Australia!]

Principal Promotions (the official Interhash '96 agents in the UK) offer GBP 199 for 7 nights, which is 398 pounds per double).

When contacted directly the hotel quote CYP 28 (approx GBP 39) per double per night, which works out to be GBP 273 for 7 nights.

In other words, it is much cheaper to book direct with the hotel.

The contact is Maria Savva, Head Receptionist, (FAX) 3575-352-124. For the record, the fax number of the Kanika Pantheon is 3575-344-259.

IBM is claiming a spotters fee of 1 beer per person from anyone who books direct as a result of this information. He'll be even more delighted if each beer has a Mars bar floating in it.
